

Greg Caton

Greg Caton is an American author, herbalist, inventor, and manufacturer.

His journey through this U.S. criminal justice system – the inspiration for his latest book, The Joys of Psychopathocracy – is documented in a free online work, Meditopia (meditopia.org).

His case was brought to international attention when he was illegally kidnapped by agents working for the U.S. Food and Drug Administration in 2009. This act was condemned by the Ecuadorian government in 2012 as unfounded in both international and Ecuadorian law, and Caton's deportation was expunged from federal records there. Amazingly, Caton appeared alongside Osama bin Laden in February, 2009 as one of the "World's Most Wanted" by Parade Magazine, following his placement on the Interpol Red List for criminal charges which were subsequently shown to be bogus.

He is the co-founder of Alpha Omega Labs (herbhealers.com) and lives outside the city of Cuenca, Ecuador, with his wife, Cathryn.

More complete information on his work can be found at: www.gregcaton.com